County Candidates Get Off on Their Two-Weeks Tour

1938 Hempstead Stump Tour Opens Monday Morning at Patmos

SP'G HILL TUESDAY

Speakers Move to Guernsey for All-Day Rally Wednesday

By J. T. BOWDEN, Jr.

Hempstead county's 1938 election stump campaign opened in Patmos Monday morning when 20 county, state and district candidates faced the microphone of the public address system.

A crowd estimated at about 500 listened to the office-seekers present their qualifications in the all-day meeting.

The only alteration of the day came late in the afternoon when Sheriff Jim Bearden was challenged for the time he was using in speaking for R. A. Cook, candidate for governor, by another aspirant to the same office, Dr. W. E. McNitt, of Batesville. The latter was the last speaker on the day's program and the crowd was becoming a bit restless, but the few words of argument between the two speakers brought the listeners back to attention.

Many of the candidates arrived late and the meeting convened just one hour past schedule with Oscar T. Rider of near Patmos acting as chairman. The first speaker to be introduced was James Pilkinton, of Hope, candidate for state senator.

Pilkinton's Speech
After reviewing his early life and schooling young Pilkinton stated that he did not believe in making a lot of promises regardless of whether they could or could not be kept. In taking

Hope Concern Sells Over Half U. S. Handles to New Zealand

E. P. Houghton, Australian representative of Bruner-Ivory Handle company, spent Sunday and Monday in Hope on a world inspection tour of American and British factories for which he is broker at Sydney, Australia.

Mr. Houghton's firm name is E. P. Houghton, Pty. Ltd., with headquarters at Sydney and branch offices at Melbourne, Australia, and Auckland, New Zealand.

The Hope concern sells hickory and ash handles in 14 foreign countries. Mr. Houghton placing sales for Australia and New Zealand. He said the Bruner concern sells more than half of the American handles sold in New Zealand and a good percentage of those sold in Australia.

Bruner's Largest Agent

Guy E. Basye, sales manager for Bruner, pointed out that Mr. Houghton is the local concern's largest sales agency. Mr. Houghton has been acting for the Bruner organization since 1925.

So well known were both the Bruner plant and Mr. Houghton's brokerage concern in the world handle trade that when each was seeking a new counsel 13 years ago their letters crossed each other in the middle of the Pacific ocean. At the very moment Mr. Houghton, in Sydney, Australia, picked up the Bruner letter asking him to represent them in sales there, the Bruner executives were reading a letter from Mr. Houghton placing himself at their service.

Climate Like Ours

Mr. Houghton told The Star in an interview Monday that Sydney, the second-largest city in the British empire (exceeded only by London), with a population of about 1 1/2 millions, has a climate similar to Hope's. It doesn't get quite as cold during the winter—never freezing—but the summers are just as hot as south Arkansas'. It is winter down there now.

Mr. Houghton is on his first American trip in 10 years. He left Sydney March 7, going by way of the Suez Canal through the Mediterranean to France and England, thence to Germany and Sweden. He landed at Quebec, Canada, a month ago, and has been in the United States ever since. He expects to return home by way of Los Angeles and the Pacific. He ended his Hope visit at 9:40 Monday night.

Youths Jailed on Strength of Little Rock Woman's Story

NORTH LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Bond of $5,000 each were fixed Tuesday for two youths booked as E. A. Cochran, 18, and Tinker Thompson, 22, of Conway, arrested at Conway Monday charged with rape in connection with a reported assault on a 25-year-old Little Rock woman.

The two remained in custody in default of bond, awaiting a preliminary hearing called for Saturday.

Both youths denied the charge to Chief of Detectives J. O. McDougal, although the officer said they admitted taking the woman riding Sunday night.

The young woman remained at a hospital Tuesday suffering injuries when she jumped from a car on a North Little Rock street Monday.

Highway Patrol Looking for Conspirators in Alleged Poison Plot

POLICE CHIEF HOT

Louisville Chief of Detectives Says, "It's Publicity Stunt"

FRANKFORT, Ky.—(AP)—Kentucky's highway patrol proceeded Tuesday with an investigation into the asserted "poisoning" of Governor A. B. Chandler.

Major Joe Burman, chief of the State Bureau of Identification, said it "was not the first time such a thing had happened during a campaign." Chandler is waging a campaign for the Democratic senatorial nomination against Senator Barkley, senate majority leader.

"We have our suspicions," Major Burman said in promising an investigation "to determine who is responsible for the attempt on the governor's life."

Chandler has been ill since Friday with "poison," Dr. J. W. Bryan, Louisville physician, said in a statement.

Addressing a radio audience from the bedside of the executive mansion Monday night, Chandler said in no campaign of recent years has the rave been so desperate.

In Louisville, Detective Chief Joseph Stewart said:

"It is a publicity stunt. Dr. Bryan told me he would not go into court, nor swear to anything. As far as I am concerned the investigation is washed up."

"Poison" Charged

FRANKFORT, Ky.—(AP)—Gov. A. B. Chandler, ill for days, is the victim of water "doctored with a poison," Dr. J. W. Bryan, his Louisville physician, said in a statement Monday. The doctor said he did not know what kind of poison it was but added "if consumed in sufficient quantities would have caused death."

The governor, smiling, talked from his sick bed in the mansion with reporters but declined to make public the physician's report. He referred all inquiries to Dr. Bryan.

Monday night he went on the air, speaking from his sick bed for his first speech since he was stricken with a stomach ailment last Friday in Louisville. He was brought to Frankfort Sunday in an ambulance. He is to return to the stump Thursday if his condition continues to improve.

It must be great to feel at the close of the day that you've done your duty as you went on your way. The day's close brings a well-earned rest. You repose serenely with conscience clear. Was the world made better by your deeds this day? Did you heal any wounds—did you stop the fray? Have you planted a rose where a thistle grew? How many hearts were gladdened by you? Did the children smile as you passed by? Were they glad to see your sun-lit eye? It is better to serve though it brings not fame. Than to act the quitter in life's great game.—Selected.

Today's Fashion Hint

You Will Find Figure Magic In This Bolero-Princess

By CAROL DAY

With a silhouette that hugs the figure and flares just a bit at the skirt, with a round, school-girlish collar and with little bows, this dress is very youthful and charming. Then, the brief, rounded bolero makes the waist-line look wonderfully slim.

Pattern 8290 is an ideal one to wear. It goes smartly to important lunch dates as well as on shopping trips. It will be the luckiest and most useful dress in your vacation wardrobe.

Make it up in silk crepe, linen, pique or sharkskin. Pattern 8290 would be pretty in two colors, one color, or combinations of print and plain. The frock will be lovely in a dark or pastel shade, with a white bolero that you can also wear with other things.

Pattern 8290 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. Size 14 requires 4½ yards of 35 inch material for the dress; 2½ yards for the bolero; 2¼ yards ribbon for bows. For collar in contrast use ½ yard.

The new Spring and Summer Pattern Book, 32 pages of attractive designs for every size and every occasion, is now ready. Photographs show dresses made from these patterns being worn; a feature you will enjoy. Let the charming designs in this new book help you in your sewing. One pattern and the new Spring and Summer Pattern Book—25 cents. Book alone—15 cents.

For a pattern of this attractive model send 15 cents in coin, your Name, Address, Style Number and Size to Hope Star Today's Pattern Bureau, 211 W. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill.

up the issues of the senate race he said.

"The state is buying and paying for more than it can afford. The state has an annual income of $25,000,000. Of the tax dollar 40 per cent is being used to handle the remaining 60 per cent . . . I am opposed to any new form of taxation and will insist that the old taxes be spent wisely and economically. Too much money allotted to the welfare department is being spent for overhead expense. I will do my best to curb that so that the money will go where it is most needed.

"In the past the senators and representatives have lost a lot of the touch with the people they represent. I pledge myself to maintain constant contact with the folks at home. I will call at least one meeting in each county before the legislature meets so that I may thoroughly know the wish of the people whom I represent.

"I have heard that several of my political enemies are going over the country in high-powered automobiles telling the people that I am too young for the job. Yes, I am a young man and my entire future is at stake. That should be proof that your senator I will do nothing to blight the rest of my life. I pledge you that I will return to you the same clean and honest young man that you send to Little Rock to serve you in the senate. I am asking for your vote on my qualifications alone."

Dictator Strikes

lieve in democracy, it has been constantly asserted that Hitler has not sent airplanes and technicians, Mussolini has not sent Italian regulars, and material to Franco merely to see that Spain does not remain republican.

Democratic writers have held that Germany wishes to get a grip on the mineral wealth in the north of Spain, that Italy intends to have bases in the Balearic Islands, and that Germany and Italy between them desire bases in Spanish Morocco across from England's Gibraltar. In other words, they would threaten Franco's communications with her North African possessions, from which she draws men and food in war time, and England's free passage through the Mediterranean.

France seems to have answered the question categorically in a speech he made on the Aragon front last March 19:

"Not an inch of territory will be detached from Spain for the benefit of a foreign power after our complete victory."

As to the kind of regime he would give Spain, Franco has veered from point to point. In a speech he made August 10, 1936, barely three weeks after his rebellion had begun, he said:

"Spain is a republic and will remain so. Neither the regime nor the flag will be changed. The only change will be that crime will be replaced by order, acts of banditry by acts of progressive work. The Spanish Army may be compared with a surgeon who is operating to save Spain."

Later, in another speech, he seems to have forgotten all about a republican regime, for he said:

"We will not have Fascism, but will establish a military dictatorship."

France, already, of course, has built behind his advancing armies a sort of temporary military dictatorship designed to function as long as the civil war lasts.

In Franco's forces there were men who were out and out Fascists and there were others who were monarchists. He succeeded in getting them to settle their differences at least temporarily during the civil war. In April, 1938, celebrating this union, he said at Saragossa:

"The old life—frivolous, comfortable, empty—must go. The Tertulia—coffee house table around which Spaniards discussed problems eternally instead of grappling with them—must go. Such habits caused Spain's decadence. A century of impotence showed the time has come for the Spanish National Revolution."

But it was to be on the Portuguese rather than on the Italian model. For their aim again:

"We do not believe in government through voting booths. The Spanish national will was never freely expressed through the ballot box. In times gone by, first the political bosses, and later, the tyrannical syndicates (managing labor organizations) forced the Spanish people to vote according to their whims, giving them orders how they should vote. In the new Spain, the national will is to be expressed corporately through a guild system, the Nuovo Estado of Portugal rather than the Fascismo of Italy is to be our model."

"We promise the Spanish people that no home shall lack a hearth and fire; no worker shall lack bread; every man shall have work, because those who have more shall give away something for those who have less. Our social justice will be based on brotherly love and on the intimate collaboration of all classes. Our hand will be hard and

Clarence Baker was the final candidate for sheriff to speak. He said in part: "I am proud of my 14-year record. . . I believe that the people have faith in me and I believe that I know how to perform those duties and know how to enforce the laws. I have never laid down on the job. . . I promise the taxes will be collected from everyone alike; and that the laws will be enforced alike on the great and small."

"It is being whispered that if I am elected certain men in the county will run the sheriff's office. That is not so. No one ever has and no one ever will tell me what to do. . . I received a nice vote four years ago and am now asking for the same chance others have had. I will appreciate your support and guarantee you the best of service."

The candidates for tax assessor were next, with Dewey Hendrix making the first announcement. He states that he is thoroughly experienced in that he has been deputy for the past four years. "I am asking for the job because I need it. I know the job and pledge you my service if you see fit to elect me on August 9."

C. Cook said, "I'm not a speech maker. Anyhow, the office I seek is not a speech-making one but a business office. All taxes will be assessed alike, if I am elected, and everyone will be treated alike. I will certainly appreciate your vote."

In order, Andrew (Speedy) Hutson, Gifford Byers and Frank Hill all candidates for the office of county and probate clerk, made short announcements concerning their part in the campaign.

Representatives' Race

J. Hugh D. Clark, J. A. Sullivan, George Brown, Royce Weisenberger, and A. E. Delaney, all candidates for county representative to the legislature spoke before the meeting adjourned for lunch. Those seeking the same office who spoke after the recess were, Talbot Field, Jr., and John P. Vessey. Mr. Delaney said a few words for W. B. Nelson of Washington who was ill and could not be present. All the above went on record as being for the repeal of the auto testing law, for a "clean up" in the state welfare organization, in favor of assistance to the aged needy and promotion and advancement of the school system.

Candidates without opposition made short "thank you" talks. They were, Ralph Bailey, circuit clerk; Clifford Franks, county treasurer; and Frank Rider, county judge. The latter made a short report of the condition of the county.

The two men in the race for prosecuting attorney, Dick Huey and Lester Brown, both of Arkadelphia, Clark county made short speeches regarding their platforms.

Joe Booker, of Washington spoke in behalf of his brother, Lester Booker, who is a candidate for the office of state land commissioner.

R. A. (Bob) Cook was represented in his race for governor by Sheriff Jim Bearden who spoke at length on the corruptness of the present administration. Dr. W. S. McNutt, also a gubernatorial aspirant, in a less lengthy speech, lambasted both Cook and Bailey and presented himself as "the only man fit to be the next governor of Arkansas."

There were no township candidates at the meeting. In the afternoon Jim Dodson served as chairman in the absence of Mr. Rider.

Tuesday, the speakers moved to Spring Hill for the second day's meeting, with Gutersey their meeting place Wednesday.

Japanese Capture Hankow Approach

Kiukiang, Yangtze River Port Downstream, Finally Taken

SHANGHAI, China.—(AP)—Japanese military spokesmen announced Monday their forces had occupied Kiukiang, Yangtze river port 135 miles downstream from Hankow, the Chinese provisional capital.

The Japanese army took unopposed control of the city, the spokesmen said, when Chinese defenses crumbled and the army of Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek began retreating to the west and southwest.

The fall of the important port marked the breaking of the principal line of Chinese defense in the Yangtze valley, Japanese claimed, and opened the way to Hankow.

"Japanese naval officers added that the Mikado's fleet of war vessels simultaneously advanced up the minestrain river and began shelling the retreating Chinese."

Air forces likewise joined in the attack upon the withdrawing army. Japanese have hammered at the defenses of Kiukiang since the fall of Hukow, 15 miles down river, July 5.

Barkley, Senate majority leader, seeking re-nomination in the August 6 Democratic primary.

The statement of Dr. Bryan was dated July 21. It was made available to newsmen when the governor complied with a suggestion from Dr. Bryan that it be released.

Dr. Bryan said State Finance Commissioner J. Dan Talbott and State Highway Patrolman Jesse Wyatt will "drank from the same pitcher of water" with the governor also became ill but were not affected as seriously as Chandler. He said no others had drinks from the pitcher.

The governor, Dr. Bryan said, drank "more of the water than either of the other two" because "he was perspiring freely and giving a talk over the radio."

"I am aware that hundreds of other people drank the water which is piped into the hotel and suffered no ill effects therefrom," the doctor added.

Dr. Bryan said he was "fully convinced that had Governor Chandler consumed very much more of the water, which undoubtedly had been poisoned, it would have been fatal to him."

He said he was of "the absolute opinion that somehow and in some way the water which was consumed by Governor Chandler, Mr. Talbott and Lieutenant Wyatt, somehow, somewhere and by someone had been doctored with a poison that would have produced the above symptoms complained of by the three men."

Maverick Bitter About His Defeat

Texas Congressman Says Anti-Roosevelt Group Defeated Him

DALLAS, Texas.—(AP)—Representative Maury Maverick, ardent New Dealer defeated in a campaign in which he said "more money" was used against him than ever before in the South, spoke Monday of "enjoying obscurity"—but quickly added how long his retirement would be he did not know.

On two presidential visits to Texas, once in Maverick's own district of Bexar county here and again at Fort Worth, Maverick was singled out by Mr. Roosevelt.

"The president likes me and I like the president," said Maverick on Mr. Roosevelt's most recent visit.

Explaining his defeat by Paul J. Kilday, Maverick said in part:

"The reason? One must understand machine politics, here, we have exactly the same situation as Jersey City. I ran independently with such organization as I could muster in the few weeks after the adjournment of Congress. More money was poured into the opposition than was ever used in any Southern campaign, too."

"I did not lose any American Federation of Labor votes in spite of the letter of William Green against me, but the labor vote here is very small. The only effect was to give an instrument in the hands of the labor-haters—including the enemies of the A. F. of L. to get the reactionary and anti-New Deal vote."

"The Roosevelt angle was peculiar. My opponent said he was 'for Roosevelt' without endorsing his policies; this got the anti-Roosevelt money and anti-Roosevelt vote. With the machine and the anti-Roosevelt money, they apparently did well."

In Washington, President Green of the American Federation of Labor interpreted Maverick's defeat as "a warning to the members of Congress that the people of this country do not want representatives who espouse the C. I. O." The Committee for Industrial Organization had endorsed Maverick.

STORIES IN STAMPS

The White House—
Symbol of America

A TOP-HATTED distinguished company laid the cornerstone of the White House on Oct. 13, 1792, 300th anniversary of the landing of Columbus in America.
But George Washington, who had first visualized the site as the future home of the government of the nation, was unable to attend.

He missed a gala day, for the White House was to be the city's first public building. The design of the White House proper and the terraces is said to have been suggested by that of the Duke of Leinster's palace in Dublin. It is the classic style of architecture.
The exterior walls are built of light gray Virginia sandstone and were first painted white in the course of reconstruction after the fire in 1815.

Major L'Enfant, French engineer and close friend of Washington, suggested the exact site of the White House in his plan for the entire city, which Washington approved. Capt. James Hoban, an Irishman of Charleston, S. C., won the $500 prize for the design and under his direction the work was carried out.

President and Mrs. John Adams first occupied the White House in November 1800. On Aug. 24, 1814, the British burned the building.
It is shown above on a stamp of the new U. S. regular series, enlarged.

It is estimated that out of every dollar spent by motoring tourists, about 20 cents goes toward transportation expenses, another 20 cents for accommodations, 21 cents for meals, 25 cents for incidentals, 8 cents for amusements and 6 cents for refreshments.

Indians, Boston Split 2 Contests

Dickman Outpitches Johnny Allen to Win the Opening Game

BOSTON—(AP)—After pitching duels, the Indians and Red Sox remained just where they were before they started Monday's doubleheader, Cleveland in second place a game back of the Yankees and Boston in third position another game and a half to the rear. The Red Sox won the opener 4-0 as Rookie Emerson Dickman outpitched the veteran Johnny Allen, who after winning 12 straight, suffered his second setback of the season and his third in 30 games over two years. Mel Harder out-pitched young Jim Bagby, however, 3-0 in the nightcap to leave the Indians an even break. Dickman held the Indians to three hits for his fifth victory as against two defeats. Earl Averill got to him for a scratch double in the eighth. Sam Rice got the other blow, a single in the ninth.

Allen himself yielded only five hits before he was replaced by Bill Zacher at the start of the eighth. One of the blows was Jimmy Rice's 27th homer, the sixth after the Sox had scored once in the second on Higgin's single. Ken Keltner's error, and a fielder's choice. Harder limited the Sox to five hits while the Indians were making the most of six off young Bagby, who fanned nine. Bagby had the misplay, however, to pitch a home run ball to Keltner in the third his 17th homer of the year. In the sixth Thomas Heath tripled and scored on Averill's fly. The Tribe counted again in the ninth on Heath's infield single and Keltner double.

Fox Hunters Will Meet October 24-27

Attendance of About 500 Expected to Attend Hunt

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—The board of directors of the Arkansas Fox Hunters Association Monday decided to hold its fourth annual fall hunt October 24-27, in the Summer Sweet Orchard community between Forrest City and Wynne. An attendance of 500 is expected. The decision was announced following a rally attended by more than 200 hunters from 30 counties. Speakers before the gathering appealed for closer co-operation between sportsmen and more and better protection for more and better prairie-Gheff& for wild life.

G. B. Oliver, game and fish commission chairman, explained the agency's long range program of conservation and reproduction and said if the program was completed Arkansas would rank at the top for good hunting.

Commissioner Secretary D. N. Graves urged a constitutional amendment to permit local legislation regarding wild life. He offered a plan for distribution of foxes over the state when they become too numerous in some communities.

Dr. S. M. Dellinger, head of the University of Arkansas zoology department, said investigations indicated foxes probably were more valuable to farmers and bird hunters than they were destructive. He urged elimination of steel traps and strice regulation of trappers.

Dr. Joe Shuffield, members of the game and fish commission from this congressional district, urged co-operation between all sportsmen in an effort to create new game reserves and to enforce game regulations.

Folke knows his way around a junk yard. He made a tour of the scrap heaps last winter, selected the necessary parts, and then went about assembling them into a midget automobile. He spent four months on the complete process.

It is a sour grapes philosophy.—Mrs. Kathleen O. Larkin, Chicago psychiatrist, on woman-hating.

Galento Appears to Be Improved

Two-Ton Tony Talks of His Future Boxing Bout

ORANGE, N. J.—(AP)—Tony Galento showed definite improvement Monday in his fight against bronchial pneumonia and talked about fight wars to come.

His doctors said his temperature was lower, and his general condition good and the always talkative Galento, No. 1 heavyweight title challenger, showed it.

Kalifying after being given two blood transfusions Sunday and a "pep talk" by his manager, Joe Jacobs, Galento wanted to know when he could get out of bed and whether he could fight

John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight champion, or Max Baer in September. Tony instructed his wife, Mary, who brought a fresh supply of home-made chicken broth to his bedside in Orange Memorial hospital, to refund $2500 worth of tickets he sold to friends for the Lewis bout, which was to have been held in Philadelphia Tuesday night. The blustering two ton has always been one of his own best salesmen. Galento's temperature dropped Monday to 103.2 from Sunday's high of 105.6.

SENATOR CARAWAY

Nationally Recognized in the United States Senate as

- An anchor for agricultural stability
- A counsellor for labor
- A champion for floor control
- A balance-wheel for business
- A spokesman at the White House

"Your friend and mine"

Arkansas has much to be proud of in the services rendered by Senator Hattie W. Caraway at the nation's capitol. Her recognized seniority and powerful committee assignments have been big factors in bringing to this state nearly five hundred million dollars of federal funds since 1932.

THE FRIENDLIEST NATIONAL ADMINISTRATION to the South, since the war between the states, is in the saddle at Washington. Senator Caraway, who knows our problems, and can talk our language, gets us real consideration at the White House.

Near the top of the Commerce Committee she has battled forcefully and successfully for flood control measures.

A ranking member of the Committee on Agriculture, she knows what she wants for farmers and has been successful in getting it.

Her work and influence in the Senate have brought aid for schools, funds for relief, finances for civic improvements, loans for home-owners, new life to business, and many other benefits affecting practically every man, woman and child in this state.

All Arkansas knows that her service has been unselfish and inspired by a heartfelt interest in our welfare. Her splendid record has brought the whole-hearted endorsement of newspapers, business men, laborers, farmers, teachers, church folk and individuals from every section of the state and throughout the nation.

Sherman Relieved as College Coach

Says Contract Not Renewed at Monticello Due to Lack of Finances

MONTICELLO, Ark.—(AP)—Eugene "Bo" Sherman said Monday night the Monticello A. & M. board of directors had notified him that it had failed to renew his contract as head coach due to lack of finances.

Campus reports were that former Coach Stewart A. Ferguson would be recommended as Sherman's successor but President Marvin Bankston said no decision had been reached in this respect.

"The action caught me flatfooted," asserted Sherman. "I have no future plans."

"While on my summer vacation word was received by rumor on July 5, that my contract had not been renewed. Nothing had been said of this intention by college heads before hand. Therefore, this came as a complete surprise."

Sherman has directed athletics at the Monticello college the past three years. Before coming here he coached at Henderson State four years.

"I sincerely hope my efforts here have not been in vain due to lack of material to compete with other colleges," asserted Sherman.

Poverty and Trouble Couldn't Stop This Mother

A house built of dreams—almost literally—is this cottage in the hills near Remlap, Ala. Mrs. Vivian Walker, a widow with four children, built it herself with no assets but allotments from the CCC wages of her son, savings from relief and WPA allowances, her own bare hands and the courage of a Joan of Arc.

Rearing three fine girls while she struggled for the home fate had snatched from her, Mrs. Vivian Walker is a living proof that being "on relief" is not a hopeless prospect. She is teaching all three, Berly, Helen and Mina Lee, to play the piano, and keeping them regularly in school.

She salvaged enough from scanty relief income for a cozy, comfortable home for herself and her family—and built the house entirely with her own hands.

By NEA Service

REMLAP, Ala.—Peace has its heroes no less than war, and one of them is Mrs. Vivian Walker.

In a little cottage in the hills near here, she lives with her three fine little girls. They are very proud of the cottage. And they should be, for Mrs. Walker built it herself.

She had only what could be saved from relief, WPA salary, and allotments from her son's CCC pay. She had the kindly help of neighbors and friends. She had her own hands. And she had dauntless courage.

It was in 1931 when she returned to Blount county with her four children, penniless and grieving over the recent death of her husband. She was 34. For a while she lived with her parents. But she wanted a home of her own, just as she had dreamed of it when she married.

Started With Dilapidated Shack
Ed Flowers, a neighbor, had an old house, ready to cave in, and he let the Walkers live in it rent-free. Here they lived for a year, with no income but a little relief and some help from neighbors.

Early in 1934 her son went to a CCC camp, and $20 of his pay began coming in every month. With $12 of the first check, Mrs. Walker bought the shack they were living in.

Her father gave her a little plot of ground out in the country, half a mile from the nearest neighbor. Then she began to make her dream come true.

She tore down the old shack and sorted the lumber. She pulled out and straightened the nails in each plank—five gallons of them. A neighbor hauled the lumber to the new site.

Fought It Through Despite Difficulties

Somehow, she contrived a foundation, and walls began to rise. She bought $49.50 worth of galvanized roofing by saving $10 a month out of each CCC check. An uncle, a carpenter, helped put on the roof.

Her hands cracked and bled. Sometimes she was deadly tired. But she kept on.

Before the house had ceilings, doors, windows or partitions, the family moved in. They continued to build the house literally over their heads.

Her son then left the CCC and married. He was unable to help further. Mrs. Walker had to go on relief, but he did not quit. She managed to get some wallpaper, and papered the four rooms. Then she got a $19-a-month job with a WPA sewing project in Ontario.

Now Has a Home of Her Own

She and the girls, the oldest 15, cleared and planted an acre and a half of garden. In two years she earned 1100 quarts of vegetables. They built porches, lattices, an arbor. They bought a cow and raised 1000 chickens.

The girls keep the house. Mrs. Walker rises at dawn and works in the garden until time to go to the sewing room, when the children catch the school bus.

A brick foundation and a chimney remain to be built. Improvements to the house bring it nearer every month to the dream home Mrs. Walker once visioned. She adds something to her income by cutting hair. In the evenings when the girls have done their lessons, she teaches them piano.

The house is rather isolated, but Mrs. Walker is not afraid. The little cottage on the hill is proof of that.

China is roughly divided into a wheat-eating population, north of the Yangtze river, and a rice-eating population south of that great waterway.

Young Bill Tell

Sonny Johns, shown grasping his trusty bow, electrified a large gallery by scoring three successive perfects in the third round and the three last ends of the American Junior Round in Portland, Ore. Archery authorities say it never was done before in competition. Two other perfects gave Johns, a 13-year-old Tacoma youngster, a total of five for the competition. He won the title with 2869 points. He is the Northwest and Washington State junior champion, and will participate in the national tournament in San Francisco.

Prothro Is Willing Trade Entire Club

Says Present Little Rock Team Is a Collection of Disappointments

LITTLE ROCK—Doc Prothro said Monday night that all players of the Little Rock ball club with the exception of First Baseman Paul Campbell would be sold or traded if he could be made. The Traveler manager admitted that the current outfit has been for the past six weeks.

"That doesn't necessarily mean I'm planning a wholesale shake-up," said Prothro. "But the situation is getting so that something radical must be done or we'll be too far behind before long. The outfit isn't hitting and the pitching is inconsistent. When we do get a few base hits the pitching is terrible and when the pitchers come through there isn't a hit in the lot. Paul Campbell is the only man on the team I can say is playing good ball."

The doctor said he would be forced to carry on as it until changes can be made. Leroy Schalk, injured second baseman, is needed badly, but Prothro added that the keystone positively would not be inserted in the lineup until he is cured completely. The Little Rock pilot pointed out that the loss of Schalk has been more noticeable because of the team's inability to make double plays.

Unable to obtain any result by post, telephone or telegram, the Little Rock club sent Ray Windsor, Traveler business representative, on a scouting expedition that will carry him throughout the East and Midwest. Windsor will confer with big league and American Association managements in an effort to get seasoned players who can make the grade in the Southern Association.

With 54 scheduled games to go, the Travelers play their 101st contest of the season at 8:15 Tuesday night when they meet the Knoxville Smokies at Travelers Field. Down to .500 in the percentages as a result of having won 50 and lost 50 games, the Travelers will try for their fifty-first win with Woody Rich, young right-hander, on the hill. Rich hurled the Travelers to their last victory at Memphis when he went in to relieve early in the game and defeated the Chiefs in 13 innings last Thursday.

Neil Caldwell, Smokie skipper, will call on Bill Erensberger, young right-hander, newest member of the Knoxville club. The Smokies obtained Erensberger from the Philadelphia Phillies on option. In his lone performance as a Smokie, Erensberger lost a 2-to-1 game to the New Orleans Pelicans.

The state of Michigan has a new system of highway lighting. The system consists of a series of reflectors mounted on a 30-inch stanchions spaced 100 feet apart. The reflectors pick up the light of the approaching car and reflect it upon the surface of the road.

THE POT AND THE KETTLE

Robert Asphal Cook rightfully chides Governor Bailey because he rode around in a $1,500 car purchased by the State from a friend of the Governor. Cook says he is in the automobile business but he would never think of selling cars to the State.

WOULDN'T HE? HE SOLD TO COUNTY

When he was appointed Sheriff of Pulaski County he sold the county for his own use, not a $1,500 car, but a $2,000 Studebaker. Its serial number was 7026802 and the motor number was 19859.

The deputy sheriffs had to be content with $900 Durants, but Cook sold them to the county also. He also did a brisk repair business for the sheriff's office.

SALESMAN COOK TURNS BUYER

As Sheriff of Pulaski County, Cook didn't give his business to a friend. He gave it to himself. But when he became County Judge, he found the automobile market saturated, so he turned to asphalt.

He didn't sell asphalt himself, but he had a friend who sold Louisiana asphalt. So he bought $50,000 worth at four to six cents a gallon above the market price and paved eight miles of roads which have already come to pieces. Just $5,511 a mile for asphalt alone, while federal-state highway projects were getting by for $1,382 per mile for asphalt in place on the road.

Moral—If you elect me Governor, the State won't be gouged for a car for the Governor, and there will be no asphalt drippings in the Governor's Office.
